VEGETABLES SUITABLE FOR QUICK FREEZING STORAGE

In this issue of The Pioneer the Crystal Dairy Ltd. locker division has published a list of the vegetables that are recommended by the Alberta Cold Storage Plants Association as most suitable for quick freezing and storage in a locker plant.

Locker holders who plan on the quick freezing of vegetables during season for storage, in place of canning them, would be well advised to grow the recommended varieties.

The Crystal Dairy Locker Plant at Didsbury is one of the best of its kind in the province. Last fall many local residents availed themselves of the opportunity to quick freeze their vegetables and soft fruits, which they greatly enjoyed during the winter.

Quick freezing of fruits and vegetables is rapidly becoming the only solution to canning problems, especially in fruits where sugar is involved, and it will not be many years before locker plants will be in operation in every community in the dominion.

MANY FARMERS ARE FINISHING UP LAST YEAR'S HARVESTING

Snow in October last fall caught many farmers with much of their crop still in swath or stook. With winter setting in early this snow did not melt sufficiently to allow harvesting of grain and as a result considerable acreage had to be left till this spring before it could be threshed.

The fine weather of late has enabled many farmers in the Didsbury district to resume their harvest operations and last week end saw a number of machines in operation.

The grain seems to have come through the winter in fairly good condition but damage from mice is reported, in some instances this being quite extensive.

Crops on most of the swathed fields are difficult to handle, after laying out all winter, and farmers are taking a loss on grain from these fields.

OLDS AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL GRADUATION EXERCISES RECENTLY

(By Marjorie K. Stiles)

The last war-time class of students graduated recently from the Olds School of Agriculture. During the war, when the buildings of the Vermilion School of Agriculture were used as a training school for the W.A.A.C.'s the Olds School of Agriculture was the only one in operation in the province, so this graduating class was representative of the entire province with students from Milk River in the extreme south to Peace River in the north.

By early June last year the enrollment was completed for the fall term; but when the returned men were discharged and made application to complete their interrupted course a number of 16-year-old students were persuaded to withdraw their applications to make room for them. Principal James Sherriek explained at the graduating exercises.

91 students wrote final examinations—and 91 students received their diplomas. Dr. Edward Thompson, principal of St. Stephen's Theological College in Edmonton, who was guest speaker, said that being a teacher he knew what it meant for a class of this size to graduate 100 per cent.

Mr. Murray congratulated the returned men on the fine contribution they made to the life of the school during the term. Jack Denny of Calgary, a returned prisoner of war, responded to the toast of the graduating class given by Mr. Wm. Kemp, who is the very popular Instructor of Horticulture at Olds.

Dr. Thompson charged the young people to make permanent homes on a parallel with the modern machinery used by the men—with trees and gardens. "The day of the shack and rural slums must end in Canada," he declared. He felt that farmers had passed the pioneering hit and miss stage of farming prevalent when his father homesteaded with oxen. That knowledge was as necessary as in any other line of endeavor, he declared. He felt that these young people were their training, energy and enthusiasm, could do much to help those trained for community betterment such as the school teachers, ministers of the church, and district agriculturists, to keep their community a clean and wholesome place to live.

Mr. Murray charged those who were going to make their life work in farming, to "leave their land a richer place than they found it". The growing of food, with so many hungry people in the world today was one of the greatest contributions one could make to mankind.

There were 300 attending the graduation banquet, with a number of others attending the graduation exercises later in the evening.

Mr. Gandier, supervisor of the School of Agriculture represented the Department of Agriculture and presented the outstanding students with prizes.

Two girls received diplomas in Agriculture, Phyllis Baird of Kamloops, B.C., and Phyllis Dunn of Calgary, who intends to be a Veterinary Surgeon.

Didsbury district students graduating included the Misses Jeanette Worral and Pauline Westfall, both east of town, and James Wiggs of Cremona.

Miss Westfall won the special prize in Dairying, awarded to second year students.

ATTEND LOCKER AND BUTTERMAKER'S MEETING

J.W. Wortle, local manager of Crystal Dairy Ltd., returned Thursday last from Calgary where he attended the second annual Locker Convention, which was held Monday and Tuesday.

While in the city Mr. Wortle, along with the butter maker for Crystal Dairy at Didsbury, Gordon Sherriek, attended the Buttermakers' Conference for the Calgary district, which was held on Wednesday of last week.

At the Locker Convention P. D. Hargrave, Superintendent of the Brooks Horticulture Station, gave a talk on the most suitable vegetables for freezing and keeping quality. Miss Norma Hogg, district home economist, also gave some further light on types of vegetables found most suitable for freezing.

Alberta at the present time leads all of Canada in Frozen Food Locker plants and legislation and control by the Department of Agriculture under the supervision of the Dairy Board is being copied by other provinces.

A.C. Kennedy of Fredericton, Canada gave the convention a real pep talk on the Frozen Food Industry. He claims we have a billion dollar industry with a great future, and one of the most important in Canada.

After the banquet in the Crystal room of the Palliser hotel, D. Elton K.C. of Lethbridge, gave an interesting address on self control and self respect.

GARDEN

Try Something New

Most of us are too conservative about vegetable and flower varieties. There are many new offerings in today's seed catalogues, vegetables and flowers developed or vastly improved during the war.

For years we have been content to grow a very limited variety—beans, carrots, peas, lettuce and potatoes and can cover the complete range in two main gardens.

This is a great mistake as scores of vegetables can be grown to perfection anywhere in Canada and, in addition, there are usually several different varieties of each. In recent decades there has been some improvement, but the average garden is still limited.

In addition to the standard kinds listed above, there are many others that should be included such as spinach, Swiss chard, peppers, turnips, rutabagas, onions, broad beans, lentils, red cabbage, mung and water melons, broccoli, cress, parsley, head lettuce, Brussels sprouts, celery, Chinese cabbage, some of the white sweet corn, as well as the hardy, sea beans.

Another point too often overlooked is the introduction of unimproved varieties. Some of the old Saxons of 100 years ago are completely overshadowed by earlier, smoother or better sorts. By introducing varieties from a good Canadian seed catalogue one can create a vegetable garden that will not only have much more variety than was possible a generation ago but one that will yield higher quality and over a much longer period.

Green Stuff

There is such a thing as keeping a garden too trim and neat, say the authorities, that is pulling out every weed and bit of grass and getting rid of those via the garbage pail or a bonfire. The proper way to dispose of such material is to dig it under, where it will decay and become incorporated with the soil, adding plant food and moisture-absorbing humus. Plowing or digging in the spring and turning all such refuse under is the proper method.

This plowing or digging is also important in its own account. Too much emphasis cannot be laid on preliminary cultivation. After the soil is turned over and the weeds are pulled out, the soil will be improved.

First In

Just as soon as the soil is fit to work, one can and should start a few rows of the market vegetables. In this way the garden will pay maximum return, as with a bit of luck, radishes, lettuce, spinach, peas and carrots of some of the earliest possible moment will be ready for eating weeks ahead of those planted later.

Greeted With Cheers

Northern Ireland gave Rousing Welcome To Princess Elizabeth. Princess Elizabeth took a 20-mile drive through the heart of Ulster after launching the giant British aircraft carrier, Eagle at Belfast recently.

The youthful Princess, who was making her first trip outside of England and Scotland unaccompanied by members of the Royal Family, set out from Government House, Bihulora, Down County. She drove with her mother and aunt, Lord and Lady Granville, over a route which took her through four of Northern Ireland's six counties—down, Armagh, Tyrone and Fermanagh.

Everywhere in the little towns and villages, at the gates of farmhouses and cottages, Ulster men, women and children welcomed her with cheers.

The Princess, who wore a coat of dull grey with a hat to match, waved and smiled to the crowds.

In Portadown and at Dungannon there were specially cultivated scenes. The Princess went into the girls' school at Dungannon and after taking a cup of coffee, heard the school girls sing to her, "Come back to Ulster, dear Princess."

As the royal car drove by the side of the River Ban, girls left their work in the linen bleaching establishments and ran out to greet her.

The Princess saw the apple orchard of Armagh and the poet gave the Irish fish piled up and she was entertained at lunch at the town hall.

Two Great Men

Names Of Churchill And Eisenhower Will Go Down In History.

The splendid tribute which General Eisenhower paid to Mr. Churchill at Richmond, Va., illustrated Eisenhower as less than Churchill.

These two very great men of the English-speaking world show an admiration for each other which is worthy of their characters and achievements.

And what a great pair they are! Churchill, not contented by his unimpaired defeat in his home land, continues uncomplainingly to speak in world affairs with all the clarity, force and brilliancy which distinguished his oratory when he was the leader of the British Empire during the war.

Eisenhower, a great military commander when it was the marvelous good fortune of the Allies to have when such a leader was needed, has shown himself to be an even greater man than soldier. His modesty, generosity and powerful intelligence shine in all he says.

These two, who in the war did so greatly, are doing so greatly now to promote the friendship between the British and American peoples which is vital if this world is to be at any good in the future. Ottawa Journal.

GAVE HIM IDEA

While helping a woman lift a heavy vessel from a well, William Wood has noticed a piece of broken crock floating on the water. Tying with the crock, he was surprised to see it right the ship after this. This gave him the idea for a self-righting lifeboat.

If a person learned the names of 25 new insects each day, it would take him more than 60 years to memorize all those which scientists have described and catalogued.

Special Spider-Webs

Are Provided By London Firm For Land Surveying Instruments.

One of the few firms in Britain where spiders are welcome guests is that of F. Barker and Son, "Sun-Dial" House, Clerkenwell Road, London.

Complying with the necessity for assisting the people of the world to grow more food, this firm is responding to orders for extremely fine instruments needed for immediate land surveying. In order to provide the necessary materials for some of these instruments, spiders' webs have to be spun to measure. Spiders are taken to the firm by a member of the staff and placed in special, long, narrow boxes. These are handled in such a way that the spiders are cooled to provide webs of the correct strength. Heres' is also used in another land surveying instrument that is in great demand. During World War II, this firm has been employed in providing fine military instruments and the workshop of the back of the microscope are as busy as they were during the war years.

Good For Morale

Putting On Dress Clothes Gives A Person Million Dollar Feeling.

A writer in The Scene, a monthly paper published at Shingwauk Farm, Muskoka, remarks that "one of the worst horrors of peace has returned—dress clothes, hunched in wartime as an impediment to victory, are back to haunter happiness."

We do not agree that dress clothes are one of the horrors of peace. True, they sometimes occasion trouble with a recalcitrant stiff shirt, a tight buttonhole, or a tie that persists in going askew for the evening to a dinner or a dance, nothing spurs him up so much and lifts his morale as to put on dress clothes. It gives him a nice, clean-cut refreshing aspect that raises his spirits, stimulates his vocational powers, and gives him that million dollar feeling that not even a new business suit can confer.

It is a sure remedy for the blues. There are English civil servants administering remote areas, far from the nearest white man and still further from what they would call civilization, who dine in solitary state with a black man waiting upon them, and who only retain their sanity by putting on a "tux" for dinner in the evening, because it represents to them a visible link with the outside world and home. FILLED GREAT NEED

Canadian Service Men Took Full Advantage Of Craft Shops

"Craft shops in the R.C.A.F. and Army have not only served to interest men in a hobby which later has become their livelihood, but I have seen fellows repairing their false teeth, their boots, and their cameras in some of our 'Craft Shops'." The speaker was Supervisor R. D. (Bob) Wallace, a former English teacher at Brunford Collegiate in Toronto, and now Y.M.C.A. Crafts Adviser with the Canadian Army Occupation Force in Aulich, Germany.

Setting up craft shops in old horse-stables, jails and garages, as well as in well-lighted and well-equipped shops, has been Bob's task since he was hit by the craft bug at Taylor Station's Camp Alton in Ontario's Algonquin Park in 1938. Since joining the Y.M.C.A. War Services as a supervisor in 1942 Bob has established a trail of successful craft shops from Camp Borden, Petawawa, Kingston, Barriefield (the largest craft shop in Canada), the R.C.A.F. Station at Ruischville over to Borden and the Canadian Reinforcement Units area, in England, in early 1945, and then to Germany early this year. The interest in arts and crafts, which has made this possible stems largely from a changed policy towards crafts, wherein the devotee now pays for his materials and makes what he likes, says Wallace. Shadow toolboards, a friendly atmosphere, and increased use of power tools are important factors, he adds. "In this age of machinery handicrafts have been redefined, and now they are the expression of the individual in a machine age, accounting for the great use of power tools."

The crafts program in England reached such proportions in late 1945 that a Central Supply depot was set up in Farnborough, Hampshire, to handle the various requirements of the 60 shops operating in the Canadian Reinforcement area and serving well over 4,000 men.

Outstanding among all the thousands of articles made by men attending craft shops in the Army and R.C.A.F. was the model steam engine, produced in the Barriefield shop. Ornamental cedar chests, radio sets, ladies' handbags, beaten copper ash trays, bowls and arrows, and ornamental jewelry are among the most memorable articles. Supervisor Wallace has seen produced in the craft shops.

"Craft shops have filled a great need among service personnel, and many have gone back to civvy street determined to make room in their homes and their lives for a craft which will make their lives happier and themselves better men," he concluded.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

HITLER TAKES A RIDE

By MAURICE ELY HARPER

Copyright
Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

SUDDENLY I heard a scream. I was out for a walk. I had left my underground castle by the Black Forest of Germany and had thirty guards with me. I really didn't need them for I was perfectly capable of taking care of myself. But they might come in handy.

Hearing the scream, I looked around. The flock of my guards had unexpectedly disintegrated. I then saw a small space vessel land before me. It was not a rocket ship, but worked on the principle of magnetism from other planets to pull it, and the repelling force of the earth's magnetism.

A rather ghastly looking man got out. If you would call it a man. He had a sort of scale in some places instead of skin, he had no hair, and he wore armor over his chest.

Approaching me, he commanded: "Come with me!"

I imagine him ordering me around like that? "Me?" Adolf Hitler!

"I won't!" I argued.

He answered by paralyzing me with a ray.

When I came to I was in a spare vessel. It was larger than the one that had landed before me and disintegrated my guards. We were travelling about four Gs. There were quite a few other ghastly men in the ship. I asked one, the driver who had first spoken to me, where he was taking me.

"We have taken you because we think you can help us conquer the world. You will become our ruler's partner. You will be given the United States and we'll keep the rest," he grinned.

I was amused and disgusted that they were telling me how to conquer the world. But I decided to listen to their plan.

I would allow them to think I would accept only the United States. I could take the rest of the world when the time came.

The ghastly explained: "We will show this invisible gas, which you saw used on your guards, over the earth. Order your men to go in underground chambers and seal themselves in, so the gas won't hurt them."

It seemed to me quite unnecessary that I should listen to the ghastly telling me how to do it, when I had already thought of the plan a little while before.

I asked: "Where are we going?" They replied: "We are taking you to the Moon, where we will manufacture a great amount of gas to use on the earth, then we shall return."

I decided to let them go through with their plans, as shall trouble me. I could get the whole earth sealed off. My men were few now and I was losing a few battles of course I would soon remedy that.

We landed at Moonbase. Moonbase is the moon that surrounds Mars. It is similar to the earth's moon except that it has a queer type of vegetation like coral, and has atmosphere.

They took me to their laboratory. It was in a big city. The people there were just like the men in the space vessel.

The laboratory was a long low building. The Moonman man treated me with little respect. I would punish them for it later. He was sitting in the seat beside me. "What has happened?" I asked, feeling I was strapped down to the seat.

"In the lab," he answered, "you said it was inhuman, what we are going to do, and you tried to destroy the machine. So we will lock you prisoner. We need human bodies to make this gas. We will use yours."

I was surprised at such a thing. Why all of the plan to conquer the world was my idea anyhow? Why should I say it was inhuman? I was disgusted at the idea. Imagine me being so foolish as to be locked up like that. "I turned to the pilot. 'You are crazy!' I told him."

I had word of the strap loose, and when I tried to escape from the space vessel. In my haste I fell into the door.

I suppose then I died. Moonmen could not get my body in time, as it was caught by a passing meteorite and borne away. While I was in Moonbase I had worked a machine that released the gas on Moonbase and so I destroyed the people, my pilot told me. Only these space vessels escaped. We have machinery here to make gas," he had said.

"We will use your body!" This remark I could not of course allow to pass unchallenged. In the space vessel I had seen some machinery which controlled the ship and the ones following it. As I fell out of the door I grabbed the lever and pulled it. This I destroyed all the space vessels from Moonbase.

I destroyed my foolish allies, the Moonmen, because if I could not take the earth nobody else would.

I wrote you earth people this because I think you might like to know how close you came to being destroyed. I think when I think how my great idea came so close to annihilating you.

I believe I must have been some body else who said it was inhuman, then in the laboratory. I would never have done such a ridiculous thing.

Sincerely yours,
ADOLF HITLER

LEADERSHIP STRESSED ADVANCE IN SURGERY

Anthony Eden Praises Viscount Alexander For His Italian Campaign

Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, Canada's Governor-General designate, "brilliantly expressed" the highest gifts of leadership and diplomacy in the Italian campaign, Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary, said in the British House of Commons.

Too little had been said of the concluding stages of the campaign in Italy, although they were deserving of the highest tribute, said the acting Conservative leader during debate on the army estimates. Scarcely if ever in history had there been contingents from so many national races and creeds as made up the force which Viscount Alexander led to victory.

To weld such an army into a victorious unit when calls were made on it for other theatres required the highest gifts of leadership and diplomacy and every soldier under Viscount Alexander's command—he was commander of ground forces in Italy and later Supreme Allied Commander in the Mediterranean theatre—would agree he brilliantly expressed those gifts, Mr. Eden said.

"It is often forgotten that the campaign in Italy was fought under conditions of extreme physical discomfort and I do not care how many posters our Italian friends may cover our buildings with within years to come they will not easily persuade the British public to go to sunny Italy in winter time."

Unrest Unnecessary

Nations Of The World Would Stop Bluffing

Unrest in the world today can be attributed to international bluffing, Rear Admiral H. C. Rawlings of the Royal Navy told the annual reunion of the Toronto branch of the Naval Officers Association.

Rear Admiral Rawlings, commander of Atlantic convoys for two years of the last war, declared: "With a strong America and a strong British Empire, if we are going to have a showdown let's have it now. If North America and the British Empire have faith in each other's purposes, hope in each other's future and charity to each other's shortcomings, then they can go forward into the future in dignity, freedom and peace."

Admiral Rawlings paid glowing tribute to the men of the Canadian Navy who guarded the lifelines to Britain. "If the RCN and the RN sail together in the future as they have done in the past, I don't think we'll have anything to worry about," he said.

OBEYED INSTRUCTIONS

Mrs. Longham, giving instructions to her new servant, said: "Before removing the soap plates, Ellen, ask each person if he or she would like any more."

"Very good, madam!" The next day Ellen, respectfully bowing to one of the guests, enquired of the gentleman like some more soap.

"Yes, please," was the reply.

"Well," said Ellen, "there ain't any left!"

Doctors Able To Use Electric Knife In Chest Operations

A combination of anaesthetics which for the first time permits surgeons to use the electric knife in chest operations was announced by Dr. Phyllis Harrison and Dr. P. E. Bowdler of the University of California Medical School.

The combination consists of nitrous oxide or laughing gas commonly used in chest extractions, and curare, a powerful poison originally utilized by South American Indians to make their arrow-tips more deadly.

Reporting in Anaesthesia, a medical journal, Dr. Harrison and Dr. Bowdler explained that the laughing gas puts the patient to sleep and the curare paralyzes the breathing muscles which must be immobilized during chest surgery.

Very important, neither curare nor nitrous oxide is explosive, that eliminates the danger that the tiny sparks from the electric knife will cause an explosion in the lungs of the patient.

Meslan Leader Carries Compass To Indicate Where East Lies

As a precaution against Britain's possible disavowal of the Eton Abolition of Transjordan carried a compass at his belt when he arrived in London to discuss the treaty which will give his country independence. According to the Daily Mail, which quotes the Emir's secretary, Abdul Munir Bittar, the Meslan leader, carries the compass so that, whether the sun is visible or not, he will always be aware where the east lies. Four times during the flight from Palestine to England, the Emir referred to his compass to turn toward Mecca for his prayers.

The oldest sport in America is lacrosse, played by the Indians as far back as the 17th century.

Amateur Radio System

Amateurs Are Invited To Get Details Of Recently Announced System

Radio amateurs living in the province of Saskatchewan are invited to communicate with Sign. Ldr. D. H. Leitch at 2450 Broad St., Regina, Sask., for details of the Amateur Radio System recently announced by the Minister for Air. Sign. Ldr. Leitch has been appointed controller for the Regina area which includes all the province.

It is especially important that amateurs who have had organizing experience get in touch with Sign. Ldr. Leitch as it is planned to organize the system to cover the province. This will require the help of qualified amateurs in various parts of the province. Present plans do not include the use of any equipment except crystals adjusted for the frequency allotted for a particular flight. Technical details will be announced to those amateurs that qualify for membership. Membership requires amateur to be qualified as required by the Department of Transport but does not involve responsibility or liability for service nor does age, sex or health have any bearing on membership as long as the regulations of the Dept. of Transport for amateur radio operation can be met.

SMILE AWHILE

Seeing an advertisement for a young woman to do light housework, a girl applied for the job.

"I think the sea air will do me good," she wrote, adding, "Will you please say in your reply after the lighthouse is."

"It's an ideal match!"

"What makes you think that?"

"Well, he has money and she knows how to spend it."

"Can you cook?" asked the prospective employer of the drowsy A.T.S. who was seeking a job.

"I'm afraid I can't," answered the girl, cheerfully.

"Understand the care of children?"

"Not a bit!"

"Then what can you do?"

"I can assemble a machine-gun!"

The pessimist was suffering from rheumatism.

"Every bone in my body aches," he complained.

"You ought to be glad you are not a heering," said the optimist.

Joe: "What's become of the Hotters' Club?"

Jim: "Oh, I disbanded. It was getting too hard to persuade passing motorists to park up and give us a lift."

A business agent was recently in the divorce court. The judge, in handing down his decree, addressed these words to the defendant:

"I have decided to give your wife a new judge."

"That's me, judge," said the agent. "I'll try and slip her a couple of bucks myself once in a while."

Lady: "You would stand more chance of getting a job if you could shave and make yourself more presentable."

Trump: "Yes, lady. I found that out years ago."

"Out west we treat the help just like the rest of the family." "Well, in New York, if we want them to stay, we have to treat them with respect."

A young man was doing his own shopping. He said to the pretty girl behind the drapery counter: "I want a follow-up, please."

Yes, said the girl. "What?"

Why, of the last time, said the young man, but I take a six grand month's thought."

Small Boy: "Mother wants to borrow some pots and pans right away, Mrs. Nabs."

Small Boy: "Having a party?"

Small Boy: "No—it's starting to rain and our coat leaks."

Jack, writing to a dealer: "Sir, I'm sorry, but I can't come."

He did not like the look of this, but it began again. "Sir, please send me two mungosons."

This also failed to satisfy him, so he wrote: "Sir, please send me a mungoson; and, by the way, send me another."

DAVID SHUGAR, of the directors of electrical supply, R.C.N., who was named by the royal commission as the investigation of air activities.

Wants To Keep Control Over Bases Within Her Jurisdiction

Premier Chifley said that Australia was standing firmly against the United States' demand for control over bases within Australian jurisdiction. "We are not going to deal with the question piecemeal," he said. "It should be dealt with in the first place, as far as Australia is concerned, in London."

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Minister for External Affairs, in the House of Representatives said:

"Australia believes the question of Pacific island bases and their mutual use is one to be considered first by the four nations comprising of Dominion Prime Ministers in London."

He added that for this reason Australia was not represented at the talks in Washington in connection with the disposal of 22 military and civil air bases. These talks were not on a ministerial level.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and turn—blame it on nerves—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and kidneys fail in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dudd's Kidney Pills. Dudd's helps the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better.

MANY ARE STILL DESTITUTE

The end of the war has given Allied authorities an opportunity to make a survey of conditions on the continent and the result is that reports have come from all parts of Europe telling of starvation and lack of the bare necessities of life.

One of the greatest needs, outside of food, is clothing; and to aid in providing this a Second Canadian Clothing Drive will be launched in the Dominion on June 17th, and will continue to the end of the month. Committees will be set up in every community to aid in the drive and no doubt the Didsbury district will again be called upon to do its part in providing relief for human suffering.

Last year the town and district was supported in the clothing drive by the Didsbury Lions Club with the result that we provided more used clothing than most places in the Dominion with larger populations.

Right now is the time to check over the used clothing you can spare for the suffering people in Europe. This is a worthy cause and one way in which we can repay many destitute families who suffered the horrors of war, while we in Canada were spared the fate of our European neighbors.

THE SEED OF LIFE

If we can extract any satisfaction from the wave of desperate hunger now sweeping across the world, it is that the tillers of the Canadian prairies may once again be awakened to the essential necessity and nobility of their calling.

There has been too much tendency in the last distressing decade, with war following upon depression, to look at the farmer—and for him to look at himself—as merely another of the world's unimportant drudges.

He is more than that. He is much more than that.

He is the grower of grain.

Upon his work, upon the broad acres of his tillage, the grower of grain has carried the foundations, not only of our present civilization, but of every civilization that has arisen in the world since man ceased being a nomad, drifting across the face of an inhospitable earth.

We may erect a superstructure of mechanism at our desire. We can build great buildings, wrench and twist the metals to our will in a bedlam of yammering machines, tear the heart out of the invisible atom and wield the power of exploding suns in the heat of battle—but the whole furious structure of modern life is based (as life always has been based) on the soft, brown earth of the fields where the calm growth of the springing grain turns slowly from brown to green, to yellow and back to earthy brown again.

He is the man upon whom we rely for food, for health and for life itself—the grower of grain, who casts the seeds of life abroad upon the earth in spring, who gathers its increase again as the year declines, who stands amid the stubble in the fall and trickles through his hard, knowing hands the golden shower of grain that is the food for all mankind.

There is a strength, a sureness, a sturdy power in him that sets him apart. He is no creature of unthinking toil, no grubbing automaton trading his toil for a daily wage. He is the man who feeds the world.

In this year of stress and strain and hunger, when our unwieldy civilization balances upon a knife-edge, he—and the world—remembers it, and pays tribute where tribute is due.

Let us not forget that again when our hunger is past.

SILK CARGO REACHES SEATTLE
FIRST SILK CARGO ARRIVES

One million dollars worth of raw silk—enough to fill five freight cars, or more interestingly to the ladies, enough to make 2,500,000 pairs of women's stockings—was discharged from the S.S. Marine Falcon at Seattle, Wash., recently, and moved to Hoboken, N.J., by fast freight.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Didsbury Pioneer:

Most of us can recall the year's 41 and 42 when we were urged by every means possible to produce more food, save gas, use old farm equipment if at all possible, buy Victory Bonds, work 16 to 18 hrs. per day and 12 hrs. on Sunday's, take work in mines and on the line in order to relieve labor shortage etc. Well Mr. Editor most of us did just that and kept right on through the duration. We've held the line in face of tremendous hardships and with farm products mostly below parity prices. Now we're starting the spring of 46 with the whole world in a state of unrest and I may say half of it in a starving condition. What do we find in this fair land of ours to give us any encouragement for the future? Building materials going up, farm fuel oil and gas up, farm equipment up 125%, school taxes up about 3 mills, and to top the list we've all received our examination papers and are expected to give an account of our stewardship for the last four years. Sixty-five per cent of the population working for the government. Soldier Settlement Bureaus operating with the same bureaucrats in control. Housing projects located down by red tape. Jimmy Gardiner telling us to raise more wheat, more hogs, more everything (donate a third to Ottawa) with these papers? File them like good little boys or assert your rights as citizens of a democratic country and refuse to touch them until Ottawa comes to their senses and gives all of us an exemption of $2400, both farmer and urban worker alike. We can't fight these things alone, but together we can go a long way toward making this country what it could and should be.

Draining off all surplus purchasing power to the East won't do. Get behind your own union, the A.F.U. If you haven't a local in your district, form one now. We've been dictated to long enough by what I would call an overbearing dictatorship from the east. From now on let us tell them that we're going to do it. And Mr. Business man, remember when a farmer or workman has a few extra dollars he spends them in his home town for what he needs. When Haley gets it he hires more civil servants to make life more miserable for all of us.

Therefore, Mr. Farmer, a 100% farm strike would blow the lid off. The zero hour is fast approaching. Let's get into action now.

Thank you, Mr. Editor.

WESTERDALE NOTES

(Too late for last week)

A very enjoyable evening of court whist was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Radford Tuesday last when nine tables of whist were played. Honors went to Mrs. S. Jackson and Mr. A. Jones, and consolation to Mrs. L. Jones and Mr. S. Nelson.

Another whist party will be held at the home of Mrs. W. Herbert on April 16 with Miss Shirley Herbert and Mrs. D. Herbert as hostesses.

Seven good games of Volley Ball Wednesday evening last, between Olds and Westerdale, Olds being the winners four games to three.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Barnes are visiting at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Herbert prior to their leaving for Washington, U.S.A., where they will reside.

Mr. T. Dawson of Calgary was a week end visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Jackson. Private Ken Farrant of the R.C.A.S.C., who recently returned from four years service overseas, spent a 48-hour leave last week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kershaw and Grete motored to Calgary on business last Friday.

SEED TIME APPROACHES

(H. G. L. Strange)

Seeding time, almost before we realize it, will be upon us. Farmers will soon be thinking about the selection, cleaning and treating of seed. The very highest quality seed for the farmer to use is Registered or Certified seed in the sack.

Next to that something that is known to have been grown from Registered or Certified crops. In many districts there are farmers whose crops were tested by the "Crop Testing Plan" and whose samples were found to grade "A", which means they were equal in truthness-to-variety to Certified seed. If the stocks which some farmers have in their bins are equal to these samples and in almost all cases they are, then other farmers have a chance to buy quite high quality and relatively cheap seed from their neighbors who have "Crop Testing Plan" "A" stock.

My own experience and observation over many years prompts me to recommend most strongly that all seed should be treated with mercurial dust. It improves germination, guards against losses not only from smut but equally well from root rot diseases; ensures the strongest possible plant, and so the highest possible yield per acre and highest possible grade. A crop grown from seed treated with mercurial dust usually, too, matures a day or so earlier.

The Lone Pine W. I. met at the home of Mrs. Schumaker. There was a very large attendance, with three visitors. Two new members were enrolled and we are always pleased to welcome new members.

The Lone Pine is growing like a forest fire. "The more the merrier." Meeting opened by singing "The Old Ragged Cross." Roll call was answered with a proverb, e.g., "You will never miss the water till the well goes dry." A great deal of business was attended to. Work for the fall bazaar was given out, including embroidery work and quilt blocks.

An auction sale then followed which took the place of a paper, with our regular auctioneer. Mrs. Schumaker caused a lot of fun and laughter. Mrs. Schumaker was then presented with a silver casserole from the Lone Pine W. I. as a twenty-fifth anniversary present, with best wishes for many more years of happy wedded life. She was also the recipient of several other lovely gifts from visitors and members. She thanked them all very kindly for their gifts. The meeting was then closed in the usual manner. A lovely lunch was served by Mrs. Pross assisted by the members. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. J. Clark.

Don't forget the dance on Wednesday night at Lone Pine Hall. It is the last one before the commencement of spring work.

The bazaar and musical program held at the Jutland school in aid of the Junior Red Cross was a real success. Mr. Fred Metz being the auctioneer, it just had to be a success. It was rather a surprise to see the woodwork and sewing turned in by the pupils and neighbors.

The pupils' program was splendid and enjoyed by everyone. All those who attended report a most pleasant evening. The net proceeds were $80. Jutland school and teacher, Mrs. Krause wish to thank all those who helped to make the bazaar such a success.

Forestation in the West

CANADA'S FORESTS CONSTITUTE one of her most valuable natural resources and are the basis for her largest industry, the production of pulp and paper. Forested areas in the Dominion are estimated to be some 1,220,000 square miles or about thirty-five per cent. of the total land area. Within the boundaries of the nine provinces, there are 1,160,000 square miles of forest. This figure represents fifty-eight per cent. of the total land area of the provinces. These forests are valuable not only for their commercial and domestic uses, including the production of pulp and paper, lumber and fuel, but they play an important part in soil and water conservation, and in providing a habitat for fur-bearing and game animals. The greater part of the forest areas are located in the Eastern Provinces and in British Columbia. Statistics show that there are 168,702 million cubic feet of standing timber in the five Eastern Provinces, 58,828 in British Columbia and only 24,577 in the three Prairie Provinces.

It has long been known that the planting of trees in the farming districts of the West would help to solve problems associated with soil and water conservation and wind damage. In a number of districts extensive programmes of tree and shrub planting have been undertaken, usually with very satisfactory results, and Dominion Forestry Stations at various points in the Prairie Provinces have played a very important part in encouraging and promoting this work. The planting of trees and shrubs has also been included in the work of the P.E.R.A. in Saskatchewan. Recently, reports were presented to the Saskatchewan Forestry Commission at Regina by interested individuals and organizations, and these contained information concerning the value of this work in Prairie farming districts.

Value Shown By Experience

It was pointed out that there is a shortage of men trained to deal with problems relating to tree and shrub planting and that there is a real need for the setting up of a school of forestry in one of the Western Universities. There is likewise need for increased facilities for research in cultural practices, disease control, and other subjects connected with the growing of trees. Experience has shown that trees can be successfully grown in the Prairies, and that they are of considerable value in holding soil cover, for reducing soil drifting and wind dissemination, as wind-breaks, and conservation of moisture. In addition they add much to the appearance of any farm or community. In some parts of the West trees have been planted along the highways with very satisfactory results, and it has been suggested that this practice should be more widely followed. It is to be hoped that those who are giving their interest and encouragement to this work will meet with success in their undertaking.

Character Counts

Two Words Formed Foundation Of English Merchant's Fortune

Cut deep in an oak plank on the wall of a London brokerage office were two words which formed the foundation of a great fortune and an illustrious career, the career of the English merchant and reformer, Richard Cobden. When Richard Cobden started out in life his personal fortune consisted of little more than a habit of wearing slippers and a firm, manly integrity. Shortly after he had become the London agent of a large Manchester print mill, he wrote to his employers and asked: "Why do you extract me with forty thousand pounds of unsecured credit when you know I am not worth a thousand pounds?" To which his employer replied: "Mr. Cobden, we consider the moral risk more than we do the financial one. With us character counts." The next day Cobden hung over his desk an oak plank on which had been carved "Character Counts."

They were discussing a certain uncomfortable and irrepressible political situation. "Well," summed up the smokescreen philosopher, "I tell you this about him. BENDING THE BEAM

British Scientists Made Things Confusing For German Raiders

Not the least wonderful achievement of Britain's "back room boys" during the war was concerned with the radio navigation beams used by the Luftwaffe when raiding Britain. Britain's indomitable scientists devoted themselves to an endeavor to bend that beam, and actually succeeded. On a much more majestic scale it was a repetition of the First World War's well-known front-line trick whereby trench raiders were led astray by moving the guiding strings begged out in No Man's Land. As the result of this achievement, through sedulously following their navigation beams, not knowing the British were deflecting it, German raiders bombed Dublin in 1941. Mr. de Valera energetically protested to Berlin against this glaring intrusion on Eire's neutrality, and, absolutely humiliated, the Germans made a handsome apology, blaming the regrettable mistake on the vagaries of the wind. The German navigation beam was known, in secret R.A.F. circles by the code word "Headache" and naturally they called the bending device, which was quickly developed "Aspirin," reports a London correspondent of the Ottawa Journal. All three of Britain's fighting services kept their saving sense of humor for the duration.

ANSWER TO LAST WEEK'S PUZZLE

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Could you please tell me how much sugar is required to supply all the needs in Canada when a coupon is declared valid?

A.—When one coupon is declared valid for the purchase of sugar, twelve million pounds of sugar are needed to meet the demands of all coupon holders in Canada.

Q.—I understand a price has been fixed on the sale of dressed poultry direct to restaurants. Can you tell me how to arrive at this price?

A.—All persons who sell dressed poultry direct to public eating places may charge on these sales a maximum of two cents per pound above the wholesale ceiling price.

Q.—I would like a price list of maple sugar and maple syrup. Could you supply me with these prices?

A.—Here are prices of maple syrup: Canada Fancy Grade $3.40 per gallon; Canada Light Grade $3.15 per gallon; Canada Medium Grade $2.90 per gallon; Canada Dark Grade $2.65 per gallon; Ungraded $2.40 per gallon. These prices are the ceiling on sales between the producer and the consumer and are free transportation charges from the producer to the consumer. This means if there is any transportation charge, such as freight or express, you have to pay it. Ceiling price for "farmer's run" bulk maple sugar is 22 cents per pound. Ceiling price on one-half, one, two or three pound tins is 25 cents per pound.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your selling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Rationing Will Continue Until Food Situation Eases Up

R. B. Bodemer, Montreal, administrator of rationing, prices, hoards, said in an interview at Winnipeg that as long as there is no sign of an easing of the food situation in Europe, rationing in Canada under its present system will remain. He said he expected better rationing would continue until August, 1947, meat rationing until July, 1947, and sugar rationing until sometime in 1948.

Thousands Of Children All Over Europe Suffer From Tuberculosis

Conditions among European children were described as "nothing short of appalling" by Dr. George Thelin, general secretary of the Save The Children International Union, Geneva, on his arrival in Ottawa.

In some parts of Poland, he said, "so out of every 100 children are suffering from tuberculosis" while 10 per cent. of children in France, Belgium and Holland were infected.

Conditions were progressively worse as one travelled eastward across Europe with children suffering with tuberculosis, rickets and extreme malnutrition.

Chinese City Of Mukden Has Been A Hub Of History For Nearly One Thousand Years

MUKDEN, to which eyes often have been turned and may be turned again, has for nearly 1,000 years been a hub of history. Those who credit transportation with the greatest share in influencing the lives of people may appropriately point out that history turned about it because it was a centre of communication, for centuries by river and hosts of burden; recently, as the span of life is measured, by rail and highway. In all that time it has tempted those ambitious to control, at their hands has alternately suffered and prospered, suffered Richard T. P. Harding, in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It is described in a bulletin of the National Geographic Society as overlooking the chief corridor that joins the northeast China and the great North Plains region. That corridor, which follows the valley of the River Liao, leads to a narrow coastal gateway that has gained more notice in war than in commerce. It has been chosen repeatedly as a route for invasion, but here means always proved easy. The rugged coast in which it is a break has helped make it as easy to defend as it has seemed inviting to attack. Some have called it China's Thermopylae, but to modern warfare it is as vulnerable as Greece.

This century had barely begun when Mukden's value drew the Russians and Japanese into a struggle for its possession. That war, fought in 1904-05, the Japanese took the city from the Russians after a long struggle, a victory that gave them a valuable transportation advantage. It might be held that in a specific sense that war was fought for possession of the city. It was fought for expression of the Japanese mood, against a railway concession granted by China to Russia, a concession that made Mukden more centrally than ever the key to the region, therefore of increased importance in the continually growing Russian threat against Japan.

For nearly a generation Mukden was at peace, so far as the world's headlines indicated. Then, in 1931, it suddenly reappeared in public interest when the Japanese moved it to the scene of the incident that opened their long war against China. Some observers, including a few true statesmen, recognized that such a move was the beginning of trouble in the East, trouble that would be serious if not stopped at once. But the peaceful world preferred to let it be, and finally got what it asked, as it will do again.

For a time during the Japanese occupation of Manchuria, Mukden had at least a superficial prosperity. Between 1936 and 1940 its population doubled to pass 1,000,000, a growth traceable chiefly to the five railroads that made the city a natural centre of industry. Coal and iron, soy beans, chemicals, grain, cement, sugar, boots, shoes and leather made up most of its trade.

The old city, within a high wall, contains the ancient imperial palaces and government buildings of China. The new part is modern, built by the Japanese on generally American lines. The railway station and its brightly-lighted approaches show an interior design of Washington, a neo-Pearl River plan.

The glories of the old city date back to the 10th and before, when the Manchus, having gained the upper hand in China, made it their capital. It lost its imperial dignity in 1644 when the Manchus moved their headquarters to Peking, where they took over the seat of the Ming dynasty. But it still has many of its ancient royal associations, including the tombs of Manchu emperors who died from its palace.

Long before the Manchus' day the Tartars, the Golden Horde that swept down from northern Manchuria, had made the city one of their capitals. That was as early as the 13th, when it was as important in transportation by horse as it ever has been.

Thought About Man

Life President Wilson Careful To Avoid Trouble For Soldier

While President Wilson was visiting France, General Pershing conducted him through an Army post. The general took one of the equipment bags of the men, which had been laid made in camp, and spread out the contents so that the President could see how well the needs of the men were provided for. As they turned to leave, the President said with a smile, "General, as your commander in chief, I order you to reduce this equipment in the pack and have it as we found it, or if we do not, this man's commanding officer will find it in disorder on his inspection and the soldier may suffer in consequence." General Pershing cheerfully obeyed.

CHANCES NOT GOOD

Savvy stone quarries are said still to be working on a granite victory monument for Adolf Hitler, ordered in 1940, on which $500,000 of the contract price remains to be paid. They have engaged a prominent international lawyer to advise their chances of collecting this bill.

Mean Business

Many Returned Men Are Sticking To University Courses

When young veterans enrolled in university courses after their discharge from the forces there were many who forecast their early departure from the university. It was said that the veterans would not "stick it out," that they were just putting in time, and that they would find it so hard adjusting themselves to civilian life that they would soon move away from academic fields. The first important denial of that theory has been shown at Ajax, annex of the University of Toronto School of Practical Science. Here, 1,112 students were registered. More than 80 per cent. of those students are veterans, with three to five years' service in the armed forces since they last took classes at school. Of that total only five have dropped out, and those five are taking rehabilitation tuition in Toronto to refresh themselves in their preliminary studies. That is a most remarkable record. It shows that the veterans are earnest in their desire to study, that they are applying themselves, and that they mean the most serious kind of business. Globe and Mail Toronto.

The waitresses who will serve you meals on this run from now on are the first of 30 girls who have taken over the dining car service. They are among the first to invade a hitherto strictly man's world. The girls like it, and the travellers like it too. The girls took a 10-day training course practicing dining car technique. Their debut was auspicious. No spit soup or milk over which to cry.

Always Keep Calm

Lord Beaverbrook's Advice To British People Is Not Needed

Lord Beaverbrook's newspapers are calling on the people of the United Kingdom to "keep cool" while "the clouds hang darkly over the international scene." No advice is less needed, says the Ottawa Citizen. When in British cities after the first German bombs fell, the government put up public notices warning the people "not to run to the air-raid shelters," it had to take them down again because no one went to the shelters at all. They just coolly carried on with their business.

Australia's Claim

Horse Still Working At Fifty-One Is Oldest In World

Australia claims to have the oldest horse still working in the world. He is Nigger, a 31-year-old horse owned by John Croker of Footscray, suburb of Melbourne. Nigger does light work around building jobs. Mr. Croker, who bought Nigger in 1915, said the horse who spent his first 17 years pulling a butcher's cart, was then put into a timber lorry. Mr. Croker attributes Nigger's long life to a special diet of chaff and charcoal. The charcoal, Mr. Croker says, purifies the blood and kills worms.

DANGEROUS WAVES

Waves are more treacherous in shallow water than upon the open sea. In shallow water, the bottom interferes with the natural action so that even an experienced seaman cannot tell what the next wave will be like.

AIR AMBULANCE SERVICE

Air ambulance service was started by the Saskatchewan Department of Public Health at the beginning of February and already several score acutely ill patients have been flown to hospital and medical services from remote or snow-bound country homes. This picture shows a farmer and a vet signalling the approaching flying ambulance, which landed in the snow-covered stubble field, less than 100 yards from the patient's farm home.

An acutely ill patient is carried by stretcher to the waiting Saskatchewan air ambulance to be whisked quickly and safely to hospital and medical service in a city. The air ambulance is for emergencies only and can be requested by a doctor or nurse, or, if none is available, by a municipal official, policeman, or other responsible person. Those requesting the service must make arrangements with hospital and doctor in the centre where the patient is to be flown.

After Historic Service In Two Wars British Battleship Warspite Is To Be Scrapped

"A PROVED to H.M.S. Warspite to be scrapped." With these formal words in an official order the Admiralty signed the death-warrant of the battleship Warspite, grand old lady of the Royal Navy, after historic service which began at the battle of Jutland in 1916 and ended with the bombardment of Walcheren, Holland, in support of the landings on that island in 1941.

Good Business

A New York Engineer Revenues $100,000 From India

Looking as happy as an engineer is likely to become, Joseph A. Blank, 40, of New York City, has just received from India a check for $100,000, the result of his engineering work.

Frequently admitting that he wouldn't be surprised if he were dismissed, he told how a broadcast of circulars offering engineering consultant service had led to inquiries from a British Indian who is thinking of developing 2,000,000 acres in Sind to the tune of $100,000. The Sind is a state in northwest British India with 3,857,000 people in its 16,378 square miles.

The start of the story goes back about a year, when Blank, having worked as an engineer and designer for various firms decided to go freelancing. He formed the International Projects Corporation, backed it with the savings of 20 years, opened a small office in New York.

While he was hoping for replies and getting a smattering, there came, just after V-J day, a letter from Karachi, India, courteously beginning with congratulations on the defeat of the Japanese, then plunging into the $100,000 order, promising that unimpeachable letters of credit would be set up as soon as Blank said the supplies were available.

He checked Indian credit ratings of the Indian firm, found it high, and advised it to set up its credits with a New York bank, which he expected the Indians to do soon. He arranged to avoid bookkeeping, that he should not handle the money but work on a straight commission as supplies were obtained, plus a fee for his engineering work.

Nut Talk Now On Current Way To Promote Australia

The presentation of the word "Australia" is causing much discussion among university professors and radio speakers.

"Ostralia" is the style which the External Affairs Minister, Dr. Evatt, uses in radio broadcasts.

For leading Australian phoneticians say that it is an old style, and that "Ostralia" is the modern pronunciation, and the one generally accepted in Australia.

Dr. A. G. Mitchell, head of the language section of the British department of Scientific University, says that an Australian who says "Ostralia" sounds affected.

The general manager of the Australian Broadcasting Commission says that he would be disturbed if he heard "Ostralia" in the ABC's own program because it would be an unusual "Ostralia" has become sanctioned by usage.

One announcer says what Australians really say is not Ostralia or Ostralia, but A'-tralia.

A number of the ABC's pronunciation committee says that "Ostralia" is too, too English.

Song For Winston

Composed For Him By Priest In Japanese Prison Camp

Winston Churchill has acknowledged the receipt of a song composed and dedicated to him by a priest who was dying in a Japanese prison camp when he pledged a foreign correspondent to deliver the document to the former Prime Minister.

William H. McDougall, Jr., of the United Press Association, was interested in Sumatra with the song's author, R. E. Baker, a Roman Catholic Dutch priest.

McDougall was flying Java in March 1942, when his ship was sunk in the Indian Ocean. He reached Sumatra in a lifeboat and was interned at Palembang jail, where he met Father Baker. Nearly 10 per cent of the internees died during the ensuing three years, he said, and Father Baker himself succumbed at the age of 45. Before he died, Father Baker, commissioned McDougall to deliver the song when the war ended.

VERY OLD TRICK

At the circus a girl demonstrated trick riding, by circumnavigating the ring first on the horse's neck, then practically on its tail, and wound up underneath the horse, clinging to the girth. An observer was not impressed. He said that the very first time he ever got on a horse.

Gas-turbine planes are not so fast as the jet plane, but have a better range.

Julius was nearly her death bed.

To this day, despite a 42,000,000 ($12,500,000) ransom, she was struck by 11 big German shells and 20 smaller ones that killed 115 by enemy shells injured her steering gear and set her steaming at a wide circle towards the coast. All enemy guns were trained on her when she suddenly reversed her helm again and gear shifted, it was thought by the explosion of another shell.

Blank originally at a cost of $250,000 ($12,500,000), the Warspite entered the Second Great War, after her extensive reconstruction, one of the most powerful battleships in the world. Sent from Alexandria, to Halifax in December, 1939, to escort the first contingent of Canadian troops to Britain, she left the convoy in mid-Atlantic for a short while, then the German pocket battleship Deutschland which preferred to evade action.

At Narvik, Norway, in April, 1940, Warspite and her brood of destroyers forced their way into the fjord and wrought havoc among German craft. A week later Warspite went back to Narvik and battered the shore with her guns once more.

By May 1940 Warspite was back in the Mediterranean as the Commander-in-Chief's flagship. After bombarding Port Capuzzo on the North African coast she spent 10 days of shell into Valona, Albanian port.

She took part in the battle of Cape Matapan early in 1941, a major defeat for the Italian Navy.

In the battle of Crete in 1941, the Warspite's more than 400 bombs were aimed at her by Nazi aircraft. She suffered 10 hits, but the damage caused some damage in the port side.

After this engagement Warspite went to Breston Navy yard near Seattle for repairs.

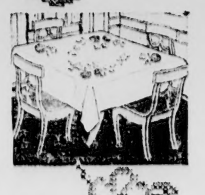

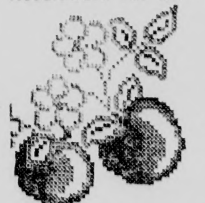

Then she crossed the Pacific to Australia and on to Colombo, Ceylon, to join the Eastern Fleet and make war against the Japanese until recalled to the Mediterranean.

Warspite played a big part in the Salerno campaign after the surrender of Italy. With H.M.S. Valiant she bombarded Salerno and of 92 rounds from her 15-inch guns fired at long range 33 fell exactly on target and eight within 100 yards.

Back in home waters in 1941, on D-Day the veteran ship bombarded the Normandy beaches in preparation for the first landing.

In August she bombarded German-held Brest and in November gave valuable support to the British landings in Walcheren.
